

Redesign gentlemen's restroom at Tantris, Munich

Established 35 years ago. Back then the first pillar of a new culture in the Diaspora of German gastronomy: Tantris. A name like rumbling thunder - temple, meeting point, legend. Once avantgarde, today cult. www.tantris.de

The gentlemen's restroom never really matched up with the restaurants decor, and after 35 years of use that was not the only problem. After having renovated the "smaller sister" Terrine, I was asked to solve design and ventilation problems. Small space, the trouble we went through: not so small. However, the result seems to satisfy owner and guests alike.

design development
 construction documents
 construction management

